1. The Personnel Department of the Russian Shipping Company ("Schiffahrt A.G.") at Fürstenberg a/Oder, which controls the local wharves, has the names of approximately one hundred longshoremen and other employees on its books.
2. This number was recently increased by one hundred men, fifty of whom belonged to the crews of the thirty to forty small German Oder craft ("Dampfer") now lying in the Oder-Spree Canal at Fürstenberg, awaiting overhaul.
3. These craft are guarded by the small Russian paddle-steamer "Mina".
4. The head of the Personnel Department is Lieutenant Einschädel, previously Harbor Commandant, now demobilized and working in civilian clothes.
5. Red Naval Captain Dudanov is in charge of local food supplies.
6. The strength of Red Naval troops in the area remains unchanged. They still wear "Dnieper Flotilla" on their cap-bands.
7. During December 1946 workmen at the Fürstenberg wharves were ordered to overhaul all shipping there, and all Oder steamers were instructed to assemble at Fürstenberg.
